2004 Conference of Army Historians

July 13-15, 2004

Hilton Crystal City
Arlington, Virginia

"Military Professionalization, 1800-1999: the Quest for Excellence"

Call for Papers

"Military Professionalization: the Quest for Excellence"

What constitutes military professionalization?

Collectively, historians will investigate the influence of military professionalism upon the different military institutions.

Possible subjects include shifting from conscription to an all-volunteer force, officer education and training, noncommissioned officer training, changes in dynamics between the military and civilian institutions, doctrine development, training development, staff procedures development, and the development of professional journals.

Submission instructions

Prospective participants should send their proposed topics by February 15, 2004 either by email (preferred) cmhonline@hqda.army.mil, FAX (202) 685-2187 or mail to U.S. Army Center of Military History, ATTN: DAMH-FPF (CAH), 103 Third Avenue, Fort McNair, DC 20319-5058, telephone (202) 685-2727.

Each presentation should last 20 minutes - about 10 pages, followed by 10 minutes of discussion. Participants will be limited to a total of 30 minutes including presentation and discussion. As occurred at the 2002 CAH, the proceedings will be published on CD and distributed to participants on the closing day of the conference.

Costs

There will be a participation fee of $15 per day for the workshop and academic portion of the conference. The reception and conference concluding dinner is additional. For interested participants there will be an all-day staff ride conducted by Center historians to First Bull Run battlefield on Friday, 16 July. Cost for the staff ride is estimated at $35.00.

Room reservations at the Hilton Crystal City in Arlington, VA can be made by calling 1-703-418-6800. When making reservations please mention the U.S. Army Center of Military History or the Conference of Army Historians.
